METHODS OF HELP

Based on the work of John Perkins from Timothy Keller's Generous Justice

1. “Relief is direct aid to meet immediate physical, material, and economic needs. Relief means temporary shelters, food and clothing, caring for foster children, the elderly, and the physically handicapped through home care or the establishment of institutions.
2. “The next level is development. This means giving an individual, family, or entire community what they need to move beyond dependency on relief into a condition of economic self-sufficiency... It includes education, job creation and training, job search skills, and financial counseling as well as helping a family into home ownership.
3. “Besides relief and development (both individual and corporate) there is social reform. Social reform moves beyond the relief of immediate needs and dependency and seeks to change the conditions and social structures that aggravate or cause that dependency.”

Rule of LAW

Rule of Law says anyone who breaks the law is the same. We have at least 3 categories of law: civil law, misdemeanors, and felony convictions.

Immigration and the law

- If you came into the US legally and did not leave when your visa lapsed- that breaks civil law
- If you came in without permission, that is a misdemeanor
- If you created / bought false papers or returned after deportation, that is a felony

In the current leadership, anyone breaking the law leads to deportation.
